

Give. Grow. Evolve.

School students volunteering

Implementing student volunteering at school

By introducing volunteering concepts and experiences into school curriculum, students achieve significant benefits to their learning, wellbeing and development. It also provides an opportunity for students to develop their entrepreneurial and work ready skills.

This workshop will provide education and care staff with support to implement the Department for Education's online student volunteer - teacher tools.

We will take you step by step through the resources and share with you templates, lesson plans and a wide range of information to help build on volunteering work that students are already doing or which will help to create a new volunteer program that links to the Australian curriculum. Teachers can make changes to the resources to suit students' age and abilities.

Date: Thursday 3 September 2020

Venue: Education Development Centre, Milner St Hindmarsh

Time: 9.30am -2.00pm. Lunch will be provided. Please advise any dietary needs.

Audience: School, preschool, special school and flexible learning options educators interested in integrating volunteering concepts and experiences into their student's curriculum or every day class activities.

Register: Department for Education staff: Via Plink. Search in the catalogue for course 'Student volunteering'

Independent & Catholic education staff: Via education.volunteers@sa.gov.au

Pre reading: To access the resources visit Student Volunteers

Facilitators: Heidi Unferdorben, Senior Policy and Project Officer, Volunteers, Department for Education and Tracey Wallace, Service Learning Coordinator, Scotch College. Enquiries to Heidi at education.volunteers@sa.gov.au or 8226 3795.

